

BLAMES MEN FOR FALL OF WOMEN

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Strikes Keynote of His Investigation of Social Evil

TO PROBE THEIR EXPLOITATION

Is Chief Backer of Campaign Against White Slave Trade and Its Causes

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Man is chiefly responsible for the fallen woman. In the vast majority of cases she is the victim of man's viciousness. Poverty, low wages, improper home conditions and lack of training are contributing causes.

This was the keynote struck by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today in an interview upon the announcement by the bureau of social hygiene of the plan and scope of the work it has undertaken with money he contributed in a permanent campaign against the greatest of all social evils which was made public last night. As the founder and chief financial backer of this fund, the younger Rockefeller has taken up the task of a searching investigation of all the contributory causes leading to the widespread exploitation of women.

Grew from Jury Service

"The idea of establishing a permanent organization to cope with the social evil," he said today, "was the outgrowth of my service of six months as foreman of the special white slave grand jury appointed in New York city at the beginning of 1910. I came once at that time to believe that it constitutes one of the great and vital world problems of the day. In the judgment of eminent medical men it forms from the point of view of disease, the greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race. Therefore, as a result of conferences with many people, the bureau of social hygiene was established."

"Under the direction of the bureau, George J. Kneeland, who conducted the investigation carried on by the Chicago vice commission, has made a comprehensive study of vice conditions in this city, and Abraham Flexner has spent nearly a year abroad, investigating the methods of dealing with this problem in the leading cities of Europe. He will make further studies in a number of the larger cities of this country. As each of those studies is completed, it will be published."

Is Man's Victim

"In answer to the question as to whether the unfortunate woman is a victim or a contributor to her own vicious career, I say unhesitatingly that in a vast majority of cases she is the victim. Prostitution, as now conducted in this country and in Europe is very largely a man's business; the women are merely tools in the hands of the stronger sex. It is a business run for profit and the profit is large."

TWO STATES SLOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Arizona and Oklahoma, alone of all the states, had failed to deliver their electoral vote to the senate by special messenger up to 2 p. m. this afternoon. Under the law the messengers who shall fail to have performed their service by midnight tonight will be subject to fines of $1,000 each and loss of their mileage. This penalty has never been exacted, however.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Probably light snow flurries tonight or Tuesday; somewhat warmer tonight.

For Wisconsin: Unsettled with probably light snow flurries tonight or Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

For Minnesota: Light snow tonight or Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

For Iowa: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, except cloudy north portion; warmer east portion tonight.

Weather Conditions

An area of low pressure covers the eastern half of the country and light to heavy rain has been general from the gulf to the middle Atlantic states. A moderate depression is central over North Dakota and light snow has fallen from that section to the upper lakes. The pressure is high over the extreme west and southwest. The temperature is above the normal for the season in the Atlantic and northwestern states and slightly below in the Mississippi valley and upper lake region.

The northwestern low will likely cause light snow flurries in this section tonight or Tuesday with some what higher temperature tonight.

HARD HEAD TURNS SUICIDE BULLET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 27.—John Michelson, 26, is a bonehead. To this fact John owes his life.

Sunday morning he had a quarrel with his sweetheart. Bidding her good bye for ever, he went to his room, took his .38 revolver from the bureau drawer, pointed it at the middle of his forehead, which he supposed to be his temple, and fired. His relatives, alarmed by the shot, investigated and called the coroner.

The coroner's physician took John away to the morgue, and started to probe for the bullet. The probe refused to sink into the wound. The bullet was found under the scalp just behind the ear. At this moment John came to, perfectly well except for a slight scalp wound. The bullet was ruined.

ARREST IS CAUSED BY COBWEB ON COAT

St. Paul Man Charged with Burglary of Star Knitting Company Offices

PATROLMAN JOHNSON OBSERVING

Claims Wing of Fly Found on Overcoat Is Part of Insect Discovered on Window

Exercising power of perceptivity that would make Sherlock Holmes weep with envy, Patrolman Samuel Johnson placed William Sutherland of St. Paul under arrest yesterday morning, charging him with burglarizing the offices of the La Crosse Knitting works early Sunday morning. A few stray strands of a cobweb lying inconspicuously on the back of Sutherland's overcoat proved to be the elusive clue which was instrumental in causing his arrest and a half of a fly entangled in the cobweb strengthens the theory advanced by Johnson.

The offices were entered through a window sometime between midnight and 4 o'clock Sunday morning. An attempt was made to break the combination lock of the safe by means of forcing a bolt through it, but this was unsuccessful, and after rifling the desks of the office in an unavailing hunt for valuables the burglar left through the window.

The attempted robbery was discovered by Arthur S. Farnam, manager, and reported to the police at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. An hour later Patrolman Johnson spied the cobweb and Sutherland was taken to central police station. Since then Chief of Police John Webber has found much circumstantial evidence that tends to throw suspicion on Sutherland.

Among the things that Chief Webber will attempt to prove are that the cobweb found on Sutherland's coat is part of that which covered the window entered by the burglar; that the wing and leg of a fly found on the coat are missing portions of a fly found in the cobweb remaining on the window; that sweeping compound adhering to Sutherland's shoes is similar to that found on the floor of the office; that a bolt found on Sutherland fits into the opening made in the lock of the safe, and that marks found on the instep of his shoes were made by standing on rods placed beneath the window.

Sutherland remains silent and has asked for no information as to why he was arrested. He came to La Crosse a week ago.

FIREMEN SAVE GUESTS

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 27.—Guests aroused from sleep by fire in the Paxton hotel early today were carried to safety on the shoulders of firemen down long fire ladders. Dense smoke cut off escape down stairways. Nobody was injured.

Firemen had difficulty in arousing one man, who on being told the hotel was on fire, turned in his sleep and mumbled, "I don't care. It ain't my hotel."

LA CROSSE LUCKY TO HAVE A Y.W.C.A.

Speaker at Annual Association Meeting Congratulates City Upon Possessing Such Institution

MEMBERSHIP NOW NUMBERS 591

Report of Work for Past Year Given by Mrs. Finch; Musical Program Rendered

"La Crosse is indeed to be congratulated upon the fact that it has a Young Women's Christian association."

This was the assertion of Miss Harriet Broad, of Chicago, city territorial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for this district, at the tenth annual meeting of the local association at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon.

In a brief address Miss Broad gave the audience a clear idea of what the Y. W. stands for and is striving to accomplish both in the national and the local field. Word pictures of various associations that are doing effective work for the girls and women in their communities were drawn by the speaker with a vividness that made them stand out clearly to the audience. Miss Broad concluded by likening the association to a ring, the various activities of the organization forming segments of the circle, the center of which was Christ.

Upwards of 225 "Y" girls attended the meeting yesterday, marching into the church in a body and occupying the center portion of the building. The executive committee of the institution, together with the secretaries, occupied chairs on the platform, while members of the board of directors were seated at the front of the church. Mrs. W. R. Finch, acting president of the local association, presided at the meeting.

Report of Year's Work

A brief report of the work of the association during the past year was given by Mrs. Finch, significant items of which follow:

Total membership, 591. This includes active, associate and sustaining memberships. Enrollment in classes, 180, divided as follows: gymnasium, 202; educational, 165; Bible, 45. The educational department includes classes in cooking, sewing, common school branches, English for foreigners, basketry, business courses, first aid to the injured, French club, etc. Thirty-nine Sunday afternoon vesper services were held, total attendance 999. At the morning praise services there was a total attendance of 431. One hundred and forty-seven transients were accommodated with board and lodging. Meals served during year, 1,896; noon lunches, 7,850. In the extension division 65 meetings have been held at three factories, approximately 1,618 girls attended. Eighteen club meetings and suppers at association for girls of industrial centers. Gymnasium club work started at two chapters with enrollment of 21. Applications for employment 59; applications for help, 65. Forty-one social gatherings were held with a total attendance of 1,699. Summer camp, in session nine weeks, 37 girls at camp for a week or more; 108 others for at least one meal; came out with balance in bank. Junior department: 16 meetings, attendance, 944.

Association Clear of Debt

Total receipts for the year were $5,459.34 and expenditures $5,241.34, leaving a balance of $267.92. The association today stands clear of debt owing to a generous gift during the past year from a friend of the institution.

Musical selections were rendered by the church quartet, by Mesdames Chiley and Norbeck and a violin solo by Mrs. Homer Cotton. Six association girls, gowned in white, acted in the capacity of ushers.

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Business Meeting Tonight

Tonight the annual business meeting of the association will be held in the gymnasium, preceded by a membership supper. At this meeting, detailed reports will be read by secretaries and department heads, and six directors will be elected for a three year term.

COAST EXPECTS IMMIGRANTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—How the Pacific coast cities expect a flood of immigrants when the Panama canal is opened was detailed today to the house buildings committee by Representative Humphrey of Washington. He asked an appropriation of $750,000 for a new immigration station at Seattle.

WOULD MUZZLE ALL BULLS AND COLLIES

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—Claiming that students conduct dog fights on the lake shore nightly, Humane Officer J. W. Quinn of this city is laboring for the passage of a city ordinance requiring the muzzling of bull dogs and Scotch collies. The discussion on the question threatened to disrupt the city council, champions of two classes of the genus "dog" opposing what they termed "class legislation" in favor of one breed.

Alderman Jacob Behrend, father of the proposed ordinance, held up the Webster definition of a bulldog as "a dog of the bull variety, having short legs, while the same type dog, with long legs, is a bull terrier."

Mayor Heim had a definition all his own:

"A bull dog is a dog a little larger than a bull pup; in other words, a grown up bull pup is a bull dog."

Alderman Constantine opposed the ordinance as being cruel and inhuman.

WILL PUT END TO HOUSE FILIBUSTERS

Lenroot Says Leaders Have Decided to Change "Calendar Wednesday" Rule

WILL LIMIT TALK TO ONE HOUR

Rule Was Established when the Insurgents Broke Speaker Cannon's Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Emasculation of house rules creating "calendar Wednesday" the most sacred "holy of holies" in that body's parliamentary traditions, will occur when the next house is organized.

Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin stated today that the house leaders, democrats, republicans and progressives, had decided to change the procedure under debate of bills on the Wednesday calendar to one hour, except in cases where a majority vote of the house suspends the change in the rule.

Such a change would prevent "killing" of a bill by "talking it to death." It would also prevent successful operation of a filibuster, by protracted debate on a measure to prevent consideration of some other bill. This situation became critical last week after all day filibuster Wednesday on a minor bill postponed consideration of the resolution to establish the $2,000,000 Lincoln memorial here. Last summer a similar filibuster prevented passage of the Burnett-Dillingham immigration bill.

Establishment of "calendar Wednesday" for free and unrestricted consideration of any bill on the general calendar was a reform involved in the overthrow of former Speaker Cannon by the "insurgents."

Other amendments to the house rules proposed are to establish a new "suspension calendar" to succeed the present "unanimous consent" calendar, and another to extend debate on conference reports from forty minutes to one hour. Curtailment of the speaker's power to recognize a member to move suspension of the rule for passage of a bill of which the majority of members are ignorant is aimed at in the former amendment.

Efforts to change the rules governing appointment of committees are not planned by the "progressives."

FAMILY OF COINERS CAUGHT

WIFE ANSWERS HUSBAND

JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 27.—An advertisement in a local paper warned the public against extending further credit to the wife of Lee Gillespie. It was signed by the husband.

Through the "Personal" ad column, the wife retorted as follows:

"No bed or board, as yet I've had from Lee Gillespie, or his dad. But since the day that we were wed I've labored for my daily bread. Now for cause and provocation. I've sent him home to his relations."

(Signed)

"MRS. LEE GILLESPIE."

VOTES FOR WOMEN KILLED IN BRITAIN

Premier Withdraws Bill and Hopes of Suffragists Are Shattered

FEAR VIOLENCE OF MILITANTS

Heavy Guards Surround Parliament House and the Cabinet Ministers

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Votes for women in Great Britain, as far as this parliament is concerned, "died a-borning" this afternoon, when Premier Asquith arose in the house of commons and announced that the government formally withdrew the franchise reform bill.

He vigorously repudiated the charge of trickery imputed to the government by some of the fiery advocates of equal suffrage, and explained that the cabinet exceedingly regretted its inability to carry out its pledge to the women to submit equal suffrage to a vote, because of the ruling of Speaker Lowther that the adoption of the Grey amendment necessarily would entail the reintroduction of the bill.

Suffragettes in the galleries hissed Asquith and jeers and catcalls flew about the chamber. Conservatives cheered to the echo.

The word was quickly passed to the masses of militants that thronged Westminster and pandemonium reigned. Groans, hisses and jeers rent the air, and some of the frenzied enthusiasts started to march on parliament house, but were quickly forestalled by the 2,000 odd policemen and detectives who picketed the neighborhood.

When the news spread throughout London that the bill was withdrawn, thousands of militants thronged the streets, speakers began harangues, and the police were kept busy dispersing them.

The police guard about the premier was doubled and all cabinet members were given all possible protection. The officials openly admitted that they feared real violence at the hands of the disappointment and enraged suffragettes.

Arthur Henderson, laborite, complained that the government had not fulfilled its pledge to the people in the matter of the franchise reform bill. Sir Edward Grey, replying for the government, promised that next session's suffrage bill should be placed on an equality with government measures. He said that the government was unable to make a woman's suffrage measure a government bill but would accept it as a majority house bill.

POSTPONE GUGGENHEIM CASE

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Arguments to expunge from the records the divorce granted Mrs. Grace B. Guggenheim-Wahl from William Guggenheim, New York smelter millionaire, were postponed today until February 7 by Judge Oscar Heard of the circuit court. Judge Heard declared his reluctance to hear the case again but said he would do so in deference to the wishes of Chief Justice Baldwin of the circuit court, who has asked an investigation of the charges of fraud practiced on the court when the decree was granted in 1901.

TO END STRIKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—A majority of the striking garment workers were expected to return to work, probably tomorrow, as a result of the tentative agreement reached by the manufacturers, contractors and union leaders at a recent conference. Increases in wages and shorter hours were among the terms of the settlement, which was to go into effect pending the arbitration of the other differences.

Mrs. Michael says she met her companion at a logging camp at Salome, Minn., and that he induced her to join him on a trip over the country passing forged checks. She says she secured the woman's clothing for him and that they had no trouble in passing checks on merchants and banks until they reached here.

AYLWARD BITTERLY ASSAILS GOVERNOR

Ekern Attorney Says Executive Called Out the Police to Create Riot

CENSURES MCGOVERN'S INJUSTICE

Lawyer Insists Removal Order Was Written Before the Hearing

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—Accusing Governor Francis E. McGovern of using "burglars' tools" in the administration of his office, Attorney John A. Aylward, for Insurance Commissioner de facto Ekern, in the injunction case, wound up his argument with a scathing denunciation of the executive before Judge Stevens in the circuit court here today.

"Governor Rusk called out state troops to suppress a riot," said Aylward. "Governor McGovern called out the police to create one. The 'jimmy' has no place in the hands of a chief executive of Wisconsin. It is the tool of the burglar."

Aylward said that there was every evidence that the order removing Ekern had been written before the governor conducted the examination in the executive offices, and that the injustice of McGovern's action throughout the course of the case was apparent. He characterized McGovern's procedure as a "mixture of Oyster Bay and Cameron Dam."

That Insurance Commissioner Ekern is fighting to retain his office pending proper proceedings to try his title, was the opening statement of Attorney M. B. Olbrich in circuit court this morning. Arguments in the McGovern controversy were resumed at 3:30 o'clock.

Olbrich again placed special emphasis on the fact that the case before the court was brought against the defendants not as officials but as individuals. For that reason, he said, persons attempting an assault upon Ekern's office might be bound over to keep the peace or arrested for assault and battery.

Whether or not L. A. Anderson has a prima facie right to the office must depend on whether there is a vacancy, said Olbrich.

Olbrich said an injunction protecting an incumbent in office has been sustained by courts of other states.

"The same legal principle has also been upheld in Wisconsin," continued Olbrich.

CHILD DIES IN HOSPITAL

MARSHA O. Hovde, aged twelve, of Harvey, N. D., died yesterday in a local hospital. She had been ill but a short time. Death was caused by acute appendicitis. ## REIGN OF TERROR IS RIVALLED IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Foes of Enver Bey's Young Turk Government Are Hurling Into Prison

COUNTER-REVOLUTION EXPECTED

Army Officers Suspicious of New Dictator and Plan to Overthrow Him

RUSSIA ABOUT TO INTERVENE

Rumored that Czar Will Take Action Independent of Other Powers

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 27.—

The French reign of terror was rivalled in Constantinople today when wholesale arrests were made among adherents of Kiamil Pasha, the deposed grand vizier, at the behest of Enver Bey, Turkey's "man of the hour."

More than 200 influential men, suspected of fomenting the counter-revolutionary plot, were jailed, and among them were the minister of the interior and the minister of instruction of the Kiamil Pasha cabinet.

Under Military Dictator.

A military tribunal was declared by the Young Turks, with Zekki Bey at the head, and Turkey was under military dictatorship. The sultan is practically powerless and Kiamil Pasha himself is under the strictest surveillance by henchmen of Enver Bey. The revolutionists feared to arrest him in view of the protest that went up from all quarters when Nazim Pasha was assassinated.

That the day would see bloody internecine war and strife in Constantinople was confidently expected. Three regiments were reported to be on their way to Istanbul from the Chatalia lines, to reinstate Kiamil Pasha and his cabinet. The highest army officers distrust Enver Bey.

The ambassadors of the powers have refused to recognize the revolutionary "government" and will have nothing to do with Enver Bey. They openly snubbed Mahmud Sherket Pasha, the Enver Bey grand vizier, at the reception in his own house and declined to discuss the Balkan situation either formally or informally.

Russia to Intervene?

It was reported today, but not confirmed, that Russia is planning to intervene in Turkey, not waiting for concerted action by the powers.

Among ambassadors and diplomats it became known today there is a growing under-current of suspicion against Germany in the Turkish crisis. It is hinted that the Enver Bey uprising was traceable to German secret diplomacy. The war loan to the Enver Bey government by the Deutsches-Orient bank did not tend to allay the suspicion.

Allies to Wait Three Days.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Renewed fighting in the Balkans, which today was regarded as a possibility, will not occur until next week, if at all.

Dr. Daneff, the Bulgarian, today informed the ambassadors gathered at the foreign office that the Balkan envoys would hold in abeyance for three days their determination to terminate the armistice. The Baghiche protocol provided that should either side decide to end the armistice, four days' notice should be given that warfare was resumed.

The Balkan peace delegates, at a formal conference decided unanimously to terminate the armistice agreement. The Montenegrins, who prevented such a step Saturday night because they had not received discretionary instructions from Cetinje, were armed with such orders at the second meeting.

The counsel of the Bulgarians and Servians prevailed, and the Balkan delegates voted to discontinue negotiations "within three days" unless Turkey makes a conciliatory move in that time.

TRAINMEN MAY STRIKE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 27.—The situation between the eastern railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was strained today following announcement that the railroad managers had refused to grant demands for a 15 per cent increase in wages. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will finish the canvass on their strike vote this week. Leaders today admitted that the firemen and trainmen may walk out together if a satisfactory agreement cannot be reached.

PINCHOT ENDORSES POLICY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Former Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot in a public statement today endorsed one of the Taft-Stimson water power conservation policies. He emphatically approved of agreements between the government and companies receiving water power grants which would compensate the government for grant property and which provide for complete financial publicity by the receiving companies. Such a plan is exemplified in the Brandegee bill or improvement of the Connecticut river now before congress. Pinchot warmly praised Secretary of War Stimson for his "patriotic attitude" in the water power matter.

New York Hotel Servitors Accept Modified Terms and Quit the Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Under terms that the hotel proprietors call defeat and the labor leaders declare mark the half way stage of success, the majority of striking hotel and restaurant waiters were expected to return to work by tonight. The union leaders have drafted modified demands, which they claim the majority of the hotel men have expressed themselves willing to grant. The waiters have been advised to return even to those places where no new concessions are made and prepare for another and more united struggle.

Not all the waiters on strike will be able to return to their old positions, according to the hotel men. The employers are expected to exercise strict discipline in choosing those of their old forces who may return.

RUSHFORD MINN

The Grim Reaper has summoned several prominent people from Rushford and vicinity lately, those who were called being Miss Julia Evenson, Mr. Wicks, Mr. Aslak Thompson, Hans Franson, Theodore Franson and Ivor Iverson. Miss Evenson had made her home in this city for several years and had won many friends; Mr. Wicks, while a resident of Choice, had many friends and acquaintances here; Mr. Thompson also was well known and liked; the younger Mr. Franson (or Hanson), as he was more familiarly known, had been for many years a resident of Montana, and not having visited his parents for eighteen years, came to see them once more, but in some way contracted pneumonia. His father, Hans Franson, aged about 77 years, also caught a severe cold which later developed into pneumonia and lived but one day after his son died. A double funeral was held at the old homestead on Highland Prairie and father and son were laid to rest in one grave. Ivor Iverson, a one time resident of Rushford, was found unconscious and half frozen at the foot of a high embankment at St. Paul. He was taken to a hospital and relatives from this city hastened to his bedside. Everything that medical aid could do, was done but the effects of the exposure were too great and he passed away Tuesday morning. He had for several years been in the hardware business at Pleasant Lake, N. D., where he leaves a family. He also leaves a mother, one brother and several cousins in this city.

Mr. James McDermid of Orient, S. D., arrived for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. McDermid, or North Rushford. Mr. A. McDermid, the old gentleman who, upon Christmas eve, fell and broke his right leg, is progressing as well as his advanced age (87 years) will allow and his many friends trust to soon see him about once more.

Mrs. Ole Reishus has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Highum of Grover.

Mrs. Johanna Ryan of Vinegar Hill has been visiting Rushford relatives and friends.

A lively runaway occurred yesterday noon, when John Swenson, a gentleman living at the foot of Bratsberg hill, attempted to cross the railroad track by the depot. Being deaf, he did not hear the noon passenger train as it came in and despite repeated warnings from the whistle, continued to drive on. When the engine was but a few feet from the crossing he realized his danger and urged his team forward, with the result that they, being thoroughly frightened, made a leap and broke from his control, running down by the elevator and throwing Mr. Swenson out of the wagon. He was picked up unconscious, but when medical aid arrived rallied, and was found to have sustained a broken ankle and severe bruises. At present writing his condition is as favorable as can be expected.

Mr. Ivor Iverson, who died at St. Paul hospital Monday morning, was a former Rushford boy and the remains will be brought here for burial. Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Saturday) from the Lutheran church. Mr. Iverson leaves a wife and six children in Pleasant Lake, N. D., and a mother, one brother and numerous cousins in this city.

Mr. William Tracy, who died last Sunday at his home in Brooklyn, was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, almost eighty years ago. In 1860 he was married to Miss Johanna Holden and coming to America, located near Galena, Ill., where he lived until 1874, when he came to Vinegar Hill and purchased the farm upon which the family lived until a few months ago, when they purchased a home in Brooklyn. Mr. Tracy was a person of many good traits, being upright and honest with all, a kind husband and father, faithful in his church connections and will be greatly missed by all. He leaves a widow and six children, who were all with him during his last days. Funeral services occurred this week Wednesday, Father McDonough officiating and interment being made at Ridgeway.

The remains of Dr. Schjoll, who died in this city Sunday night, were sent to Kenyon for burial.

Mrs. Alex McLeod and children are guests of their numerous relatives and friends here, and expect to return to their home at Tremont next week.

Mr. T. M. White of Chicago visited friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Anderson are the parents of a ten pound boy who arrived at their home this week.

Abe Abrahamson, Emil Colbenson and Albert Holle were La Crosse visitors Monday.

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

HAS NEW SYSTEM FOR PARCEL POST

DENVER, Col., Jan. 27.—In an open letter to Postmaster General Hitchcock and the interstate commerce commission, Congressman-elect George J. Kindel has proposed an entirely new schedule of parcel post rates, asking that they be adopted in lieu of the existing schedule. His schedule provides for nine zones instead of eight.

To find the rate that would apply upon a package to any point outside the first zone it is only necessary to multiply the number of pounds by the number of the zone into which the package is to be sent and add three.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All you need is a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine"—Hair gets lustrous, fluffy and abundant at once.

Immediate? — Yes! Certain—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it; surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Jolly Old Wind Is A Busy Worker

The Wind Had to Push the Sails.

THE wind was roaring down the chimney in one of its angriest tones. "Dear, dear, just hear how that old wind blows!" Evelyn said to Jack.

"It's a bad old wind," Jack replied. "I wish it would go away."

"Oh, fie," daddy replied; "it's a nice old wind! What should we ever do without him? There, now, just hear how he groans and growls. Perhaps he is angry because of the unkind thing Jack has just said about him."

"Of course I don't pretend to understand just every word the wind says, but I'll try to tell you what I think he ought to say."

"He begins this way: 'Some folks don't know what is good for them. I'm working all the time for the little boys and girls, but I get very little credit for what I do.'

"Take Jack and Evelyn, for instance. Tonight they had fish for supper, but I don't suppose they stopped to think that I helped get those fish. Yes, indeed, I did! The fisherman who caught them out in the ocean had a big sailboat, and I had to push at those sails to take him from shore. Then I had to push him about to find a place where fish might be found. When he was done fishing I had to push against the sails again to bring the boat to shore."

"I push the big windmills on many farms. These windmills are used to lift water from the wells and sometimes to turn machinery. I am the farmer's very good friend, for I help him to water his cattle, sometimes even to water his fields."

"In summer when the hot sun beats down on the earth I come along, scattering coolness on the way. In the winter people who live near the ocean know that I make it warmer when I come blowing in from the sea."

"Another useful thing I do is to blow into neighborhoods where there have been sicknesses and carry away the bad air that has been the cause of the illnesses. Wherever I go I clean the air so that it is pure and good to breathe."

"In the summer I scatter the seeds of the grass and flowers, carrying some of them a long way on my strong wings. Thus I help to keep the woods green and lovely. When winter comes I pick up the dead leaves from the trees and scatter them over the ground to make a warm blanket for the little seeds that are asleep in the earth waiting for spring."

"All little boys should love me, for I make them sport flying their kites. These are just a few of the things I do to help people, but they are enough to show you that, after all, the old wind works hard and is quite a useful fellow."

"You Are Looking Older Than When I Saw You Last"

Have You Ever Had THIS Said of You Because of Grey Hairs?

It is most embarrassing to have a friend remark that you are "Looking Older."

A GOOD RESOLUTION
IS NEVER TOO LATE

It's a little late for New Year's resolutions if we adhere strictly to the calendar, but it is never too late for good resolutions. Good resolutions require courage in the making and courage and persistency in the keeping, and one who suggests them
should beware the frank and aggressive party who may be depended upon to make untimely appearance with that embarrassing bit of gospel,
"Practice what you preach." However, conscious that the sign of "The editor is busy" is hanging outside the door, we rashly produce, with the hope that it may "take," the following suggested New Year's resolutions
found in a recent issue of Mr. Bryan's "The Commoner":

"Conscious of my responsibility to God for every thought and word and deed, and in duty bound to render to my fellowmen the largest possible
service as the best evidence of my love for my Heavenly Father, I resolve to strive during the remainder of my life to increase my capacity for usefulness. To this end I will give up any cause of conduct that tends to weaken my body, impair the strength
of my mind or lower my moral pur-pulses, and I will not only endeavor to cultivate habits of industry in both body and mind but will seek and follow worthy ideals."

WAS NOT MERELY COINCIDENTAL

Considerable interest has been manifested in the steps recently taken by Attorney General Wickersham
for the prosecution of officials of the New York, New Haven and New Hartford and the Grand Trunk railroads. There had been for years a feeling that the New York and New Haven was a deliberate violator of our anti-monopoly laws; the road has become a political issue in New England and Senator La Follette once participated in the debate during a Massachusetts campaign. Mr. Wic-kersham's action at the outset looked more like a bona fide prosecution
than any of the others which he has attempted, and we remember distinctly of having followed the proceedings with occasional interested comment.

However, things gradually quieted
down, and the topic ceased to appear under large newspaper heads. Doubtless the ordinary reader didn't exactly understand, and further than to entertain a vague hunch that some one had been "gotten to" we were no better informed than any of our readers. Therefore they may be interested, as were we, in the following deductions published in the current number of Life:

"Attorney General Wickersham
started out bravely enough to get at the inside of that affair between the Grand Trunk and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. For a few minutes, it really looked as if something were doing. And—whisper it softly—Mr. Morgan, the Great,
did not show up. And, at about the same moment of his refusal, it was decided to call off the investigation entirely. Also, at about the same moment, Mr. Morgan presented the government with a complete collection of autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

"Now some people seem to think that all this is remarkably coinciden-tal, but we cannot agree. No man in Mr. Morgan's position can afford to have coincidence happen. He must know exactly what is going to be done and why."

AGAIN WE PULL AT OUR BOOT STRAPS

The Saturday Evening Post, which regards the administration's attempts to destroy trusts with the Sherman
act as "a battle of windmills," calls attention to a remarkable error in the policy regarding lumber lands
advocated by the secretary of agriculture. The premises upon which the Post writes are the fact that private individuals own so great a proportion of our timber lands that this ownership practically enables them
to fix the price of lumber, and of the timber lands not owned by this group of monopolists the government itself owns a quantity approximating
one-fifth of the grand total.

In offering its timber for sale the government, according to the report,
estimates the cost of manufacture,
and charges the manufacturer a price
that, at current market rates, will
"give him only a fair operating profit."

That sounds good, but right here
is where the Post puts a poser up to the agricultural department. We quote its observation upon this point:

"Obviously under this policy the government's timber can never be sold on the market any cheaper than the monopolized timber in private hands is sold, because the government's price is based on the market
price; and the market price, of course, is fixed—or largely controlled—by private owners of timber.

"If private owners boosted prices
fifty per cent the price of government timber would automatically advance fifty per cent; and, though the public owns one-fifth of all the standing timber of the country, it cannot get lumber any cheaper than private owners offer it."

Another case of bootstraps. By the way, all this under the administration of the Mr. Fisher of whom Collier's says, he is so great that Mr.
Wilson should reappoint him notwithstanding he is a republican. Perhaps there are republicans who would reply that Mr. Wilson should remove him notwithstanding he is a republican. And the democrats concur.

WHAT'S THE LAW
AMONG BULL MOOSE

Again has Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States and factotum of the bull
moose party, been called upon to defend that official act which (outside of much talking) most distinguished his administration. The act was his official consent to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the steel trust. As a witness in the government's suit to dissolve the steel trust Colonel Roosevelt said:

"Those were panic times and the men who advised me that necessity required that the steel corporation take over the Tennessee corporation were giving me the best information they possessed. It was a matter of life and death to them. The financial wrecking or salvation of the country depended on the accuracy of that information. It showed me beyond the question of a doubt that the Tennessee Coal and Iron company never could be developed unless taken over by competent hands and none of the facts you have alleged—(that the trust made its control of the industry absolute by the amalgamation)—had they been known to me at the time would have influenced me in the least."

This is the first time so far as we know that in defense of his having sanctioned an illegal act the colonel
has declared he would have sanctioned the act even had he known it was illegal. Certainly Colonel Roosevelt cannot distinguish between the steel trust and the United States, or between J. Pierpont Morgan and "we,
the people of the United States."

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

A Winter Tragedy
A muffled figure softly stole
On hands and knees into a hole
As dark as night. The way was rough
With coal and cans and other stuff.
The place was clammy, damp and chill.

As in a dungeon, all was still
Excepting for the labored wheeze
Of the explorer on his knees
Who sought a mystery to clear.
In this deep, ghostly cavern drear.
A candle shed its trembling rays.
Distorting objects forty ways.

The grim explorer, o'er the trail
With trembling limbs and features
pale,
Pressed ever on, to be the first
One of his kin to know the worst.
Before him haunting fears did loom
That he was near financial doom.
He took a timely mental brace
And searched about from place to place

Until a pipe burst on his view.
He found his sad suspicions true
He lost his moral courage then
And madly screamed, "Friz up again."

Gave Him a Vacation
Ethel Barrymore, apropos of leap year, told a story at the Colony club
in New York.

"A girl," she said, "looked calmly
at a caller one evening and remarked:

"George, as it is leap year—"
"The caller turned pale.

"As it is leap year," she continued, "and you've been calling regularly now four nights a week for a long, long time, George, I propose—"

"I'm not in a position to marry
on my salary, Grace," George interrupted hurriedly.

"I know that, George, the girl
pursued, "and so, as it is leap year,
I thought I'd propose that you lay off and give some of the more eligible fellows a chance."—Lippin-

The Ruler of the House
There is one clever woman in Kansas City who is monarch of all she surveys solely through her tactful attitude as an old fashioned, domineer-ed-over wife. She has a meek way of asserting herself which has all the force of a diplomat behind it, while her husband is positive in what he says, but not so much so in what he does.

One evening last week their son, Robert, was getting his lesson on the dining room table and he needed a ruler to draw the straight lines of a diagram.

"Mamma," he called out, "have we
a ruler in this house?"

"Yes, dearie," came the bland reply, "your father is in the library."

Attorney Ephraim Lipschutz recently had a client who was to come up for a hearing before Magistrate Gallagher.

"What is your name?" asked Mr.
Lipschutz of his client when the latter came to him with the case.

"James P. O'Brode," was the reply.
"What's your middle name?"

"Patrick."

"Well, now, when Magistrate Gallagher asks you your name, say
'James Patrick O'Brode,' and don't forget the Patrick."

"Sure I won't," promised the client.

When O'Brode was arraigned and Magistrate Gallagher asked the first question, "What is your name?" the prisoner said in stentorian tones,
"James Patrick O'Brode, and don't forget the Patrick."

He was discharged.—Philadelphia

Ralph A. Graves, one of the dra-

last August that he was going on his

he had framed up a fine recreation
for himself.

"I'm going to New York," he said
gleefully, "and see all the new

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some La Crosse People Know How to Save It.

Many La Crosse people take their lives in their hands by neglecting
the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a La Crosse citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. H. Hermanson, 1125 S.
Third St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "I often became dizzy and nervous and I knew that my kidneys were weak.
My back also ached and my health was all run down. Nothing helped me in the least until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Erhart's Drug Store. After taking them, my pains and aches disappeared and my health improved. Another of my family also took Doan's Kidney Pills when suffering from kidney complaint and a cure was made."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,

Rheumatic Blood
is Whole Story

Wonderful Specific for Sciatica, Lumbago, and a Cure for Dreaded Articular Rheumatism.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pain may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being with other acids. But these merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and it reflects
the best thought of the day. It is prepared in the great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., and sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. at $1.00 a bottle.

Starvation has been advocated by many
as a cure for rheumatism, and yet S. S. S.
accomplishes in fact what fastidists proclaim in theory and without the punishment of starvation. Hot springs and sweating are often recommended, but
S. S. S. does all that is expected of these expensive and weakening methods.

It is conceded by the closest students of the subject that rheumatism is caused in most cases by an acid condition of the blood and aggravated by the remedies
commonly used for relief. In other cases rheumatism is the result of nerve depression; in still others it is the effect of some scrofulous blood condition, having been treated with mercury, iodides, arsenic
and other poisonous mineral drugs.

The recoveries of all these types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a wonderful tribute to the natural efficacy
of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well obtained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you could like to consult a great specialist
confidentially, write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Ignoramuses
William Rutherford Watts, a tariff
expert of Kansas City, said in a recent address:

"The average tariff argument is amusing in its ignorance. It reminds me of a certain Kansas City police court.

A policeman arose in the court to testify against a prisoner.

"What is this here feller charged with?" the magistrate demanded.

"Bigotry, judge," the policeman
answered. "He's got three wives."

"Three!" cried the magistrate.
"Why, you ignoramus, that ain't bigotry. That's trigonometry!"

Heard of it Often
Farmer Turnout had had a good day at market. His cattle had fetched good prices, and feeling flush, he bought a nice piece of cloth to have made into a suit of clothes.

But alas! on his homeward way he lost it, a happening which annoyed
Mrs. Turnout very much.

"Full of the grievance, she told the vicar about it next day, blaming her husband's carelessness for the loss.

A week later the vicar met Turnout.

"Good morning, Mr. Turnout," said
the good man. "Have you heard anything about your cloth?"

Turnout smiled sadly.

"Yes," he said, solemnly and mournfully, yet philosophically, "I have—morning, noon and night!"—

MOST NUTRITIOUS FOOD
SOLD IN LA CROSSE

To some La Crosse women it will be news that "Minnesota" Macaroni, besides being so delicious, is also
four times as nutritious as beefsteak
and six times as nutritious as potatoes.

"Minnesota" Macaroni contains more proteids than most foods and is therefore more strength giving,
and it gives the body great power of endurance without overloading the stomach.

If it is served often in place of meat
the whole family will be much healthier. And, besides, it will reduce the cost of living, as "Minnesota" Macaroni costs only about one cent a dish.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut
Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare.—Advertisement.

THE MARRIAGE
OF CAPTAIN
KETTLE

By G. J. O'Connell Hynde,
Copyright The Noblest Lord On

Within was a most exasperating
warren of passages and stairs. There seemed to be no ordinary human plan, no method, in the architecture of that Berber interior. There were steep stairs and narrow stairs, passages on the level and passages on the incline, straight passages, and others that wound in figures of eight. Also, although the inside partition walls were eight to ten feet thick, the whole house seemed full
of the murmur and whisper of voices, and warm with human occupation, and savory with the smell of cooking.

It was all unnerving enough to the amateur, but Captain Owen
Kettle was a man of brazen nerve.
He resolutely pushed a black rifle muzzle ahead of him, and went on
with his exploration without any acceleration to his heart-beats.

He turned so many times that in spite of his sea training for courses
he was frankly lost in the maze of alleys and arches. Three times he thought he had hit on the right
room, and listened at a nail-studded door, and heard only the twitter of foreign speech. But at last he came to a narrow window which looked on the street he had recently left, and from that he got his bearings.

He turned sharply to his left,
burst into an ante-room—and found it empty. But he was on the right track now. Miss Dubbs' full rich contralto was giving forth strong opinions from close at hand.

Kettle turned to the door behind him and shut it, and finding a heavy bronze bolt, shot that into its stone socket. Then once more he pressed ahead.

The next room was a surprise to him. The voices had stopped for the moment, and he looked about him
in wonder. On the walls were photographs of English cricket elevens
in flannels, association football teams in their quaint attire, and groups of self-conscious young men
in straw hats and weird ill-cut tweeds, all framed in oak, and surmounted by gaudy coats of arms in colors.

There were English tobacco pipes
and Moorish sabers, yellow-backed novels, and a yard-long British posthorn, a fox's mask, and a stale copy of the Sporting Times in this amazing room. On a side table among ash trays was a heavy 450 Hopkins Allen revolver. Captain Kettle picked it up, found it to be loaded,
and put it in one of the pockets of his jellab for future reference. And at that moment the voice of Miss Dubbs, crying out in terror, thrilled
him in a way he had never been thrilled before.

There was another doorway to the room, hidden by drapery. He dashed through this and saw the girl struggling in Sidi Mahommed Bergash's arms.

The way that Berber kaid was thrown to the ground surprised
him. He was clutching by iron hands, shaken with a tigerish ferocity and strength, plucked from his feet and thrown sprawling as though he had been as inanimate as a pillow.

The sailor stood over him with uplifted gun butt.

"I'll teach you to lay your sacrilegious hands on Miss Dubbs, you
brown-bearded son of an unqualified pastry-cook. You'll apologize to her here and now for what you've said
and done, or I'll smash your worthless head like a rotten egg-shell,
and glad of the chance."

"I offered to make her my queen, and that I take it is no insult. But if my wooing was too rough for the lady's taste, then for this I do apologize."

"I call that half-hearted. Miss Dubbs, you needn't accept it unless you choose. Besides I don't know how deep his insults have gone. Say the word, and I'll kill him."

"Thank you, Captain, he did propose, and I refused; and well, that's over, and we'll say no more about it. But I'm glad you came. I don't know what I should have done without you. Oh, Captain, take me away from this. Take me back to your ship."

"Certainly, Miss Dubbs, certainly
I will. There, don't you fret any further, and if you feel a little trembly, please sit down on this
sofa, and presently it will pass away. Try a drop out of this bottle.
It's Horner's Perfect Cure, and you will find that it meets your case.
And as for you, Mr. Bergash, if you attempt to stir from that floor till I am ready for you, I'll put you to sleep permanently. So chew on that, you dog. Now tell me where are my owner and his sister?"

"In their rooms."

"Free and at liberty?"

"Yes," said the kaid.

"No," said Miss Dubbs.

Captain Kettle's boot shot out
and crashed into the kaid's ribs
with a regular Cape Horn mate's kick. "Lie to me, you swine, and I'll stove in every slat in your body.
Where are their rooms?"

"Below. I suppose they would call it in the basement. They got troublesome, and I had to put them
somewhere where they couldn't create a disturbance. It was for their own good. If my people here had gathered that Chesterman was shouting threats and insults at me,
they'd have killed him and his sister out of hand. I can't get them to understand that I'm looked upon as a holy man, and the people here
would consider it a mere act of piety to knock on the head anybody
that annoyed me."

"Holy man! You! I'll handle you before your people in a way I wouldn't handle a yellow dog, if you give me trouble. Let me see if you're armed." The little sailor ran a skilled hand over the kaid's clothing. "Apparently not. Left your Hopkins Allen in the next room before you came along here to insult a defenseless lady, through fear. I suppose, that she'll pull it and use it on you? Well, I've that gun in my pocket, and another to match it.

Miss Dubbs, my dear, might I trouble you to carry this Winchester rifle? If anybody annoys you, if you'll kindly place this small end up against their clothes and pull this trigger here, I'll be obliged to you. And now, Mr. Bergash, on to your feet. Smartly there! Attention!
You are to stand exactly still till
you are given my permission to move."

"If you want the girl," said the kaid, "and she wants you, take her
and go."

"Say 'sir' when you address me,
and don't speak until you're spoken
to. By James, you've got to learn respect, and you'll find the lessons
rough if I have to give them to you.
Don't slouch like that! Stand erect,
you swine. Heels together, and clasp your hands behind the back of your neck. Now, then, you're to lead,
when I give the word, to the place
where Sir George and Miss Violet
are jailed. If there are any unpleasant incidents by the way, you can rest assured that they will end fatally for you. I shan't shoot you dead. I shall plug you through the liver—just there—d'you feel?

And if that won't make you run straight, I'll attend to you some more. Understand?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are the passages to this strong

room lighted?"

"They are."

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Education (Continued)
VOCATIONAL TRAINING
The legislature of 1911 realizing the need of a type of training that will more intimately connect school activities with the daily life of the people made provision to take over the Stout Industrial Institute and in the same bill created the State Board of Industrial Education. Provision was also made for local boards of education charged with the duty of establishing and fostering vocational, commercial, continuation, and evening schools. The same act provided for a deputy to the state superintendent to be known as the assistant for industrial education. These laws, together with amendments relating to agricultural and domestic arts, marked a new departure in the educational policy of the state.

The efficiency of industrial education is peculiarly dependent upon the equipment of its teachers. The wisdom of adding the Stout Institute to the state's educational machinery as a practical training place for such teachers is shown by these facts: The institute now has more students preparing to teach household arts and manual training than any other institution in America. In about 125 cities and villages in Wisconsin one or both of these subjects are taught, and nearly 100 Stout Institute graduates are teaching in these cities and villages. Other graduates are teaching in more than one-half the states in the union.

Very gratifying success has attended the administration of the vocational school law. Although little was done to give effect to its provisions until about six months ago, 24 cities have now organized under it with 36 schools, 127 teachers and over 10,600 pupils. Of this total enrollment more than one-half are permit children, 163 are apprentices, 4,788 attend evening classes only and 170 are all-day pupils. The total cost for the year is almost $108,000. In the evening classes of one city the enrollment of pupils and the subjects pursued were as follows: bookkeeping, 21 pupils; cooking, 64; dress making, 26; electricity, 24; English for foreign born children, 31; grammar, 12; mathematics, 14; mechanical drawing, 19; millinery, 15; penmanship, 24; plain sewing, 18; shorthand, 60; telegraphy, 27; typewriting, 47; and wood work, 15. In this one school 436 pupils were instructed in the elements of 15 different subjects.

Thus this new educational idea has been splendidly vindicated upon its first trial. Even its most sanguine supporter had not dreamed of the popular welcome that awaited it. Already the demand for schools has far exceeded the appropriation made by the state to defray its share of the cost of maintaining them. For this reason you will be asked to make up this deficiency as well as to provide more generously for the next biennial period. I submit the matter to your serious consideration as a cause worthy of your united support.

Wisconsin is the first state to put into effect a comprehensive system of industrial education. What has been done here has already attracted attention throughout the nation. We should not now entertain the idea of surrendering leadership in a cause so worthy and vital to the continued economic advancement and intellectual development of our people.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION
Among the educational institutions of America none more frequently calls for the unstinted praise of thoughtful men who live outside our borders than the University of Wisconsin. This pre-eminence of our university is due not to its age, its size, nor the richness of its endowment, but principally to its willingness to serve all the people of the state, especially those who have never been within its walls as resident students.

The oldest and best conception of a school is a place where the lamp of knowledge is kept ever burning—a centre of light and learning; and this conception defines the function of the university today.

The fear of "university interference with the liberties of the people" which in some quarters has taken the place of the primitive prejudice against higher education, is due entirely to a failure to recognize this function. The man who is working in the dark does not regard the bringing of light as an interference with his liberty unless he happens to be a safe blower. For honest enterprise and plain good intention, interference with liberty comes in shutting off the light, not in turning it on. Instead of interfering with freedom the university stands and through its extension division reaches out as the servant of all the people, holding aloft as its motto the inspiring greeting: "And ye shall

ANNOUNCEMENT

know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

The recognition of this function not only refutes the criticism of the opponents of this greatest of Wisconsin's educational institutions but supports the demand steadily to uphold this method of rendering high service to the state. During the past year 6,000 men and women in shops and stores, in factories and on farms, in various parts of the state have received instruction and have had the resources of the university brought to their aid. Two hundred communities have had the personal service of university lecturers. Three hundred and seventy-four localities have made use of the collected information upon public questions sent out by the department of public discussion. One hundred and twenty-seven cities have requested advice in solving municipal problems and two hundred and sixty neighborhoods have asked for assistance and advice in district organization and social self-development. Thus the work of university extension has passed beyond the experimental stage. Its value has been abundantly demonstrated; and today the requests of individuals and of communities for their share of this service cannot in many instances be met merely because the state has not furnished sufficient funds to enable the department to keep pace with the growing demands made upon it. But they have behind them the irresistible argument that equality of opportunity demands that not some of the individuals and some of the communities of the state may have adequate university extension service, but that this privilege should be expanded without delay so as to include every individual and all communities.

The example of Wisconsin in organizing extension work upon a broad and inclusive basis has already been followed by more than 20 state universities and was recently copied by a number of privately endowed institutions, such as Columbia and Harvard.

All departments of public education are entitled to the unstinted support of the state; but the claim is especially strong in the case of those institutions that minister most directly to the daily necessities of the people. Education must become less theoretical and more practical. It is only in this view of the functions of public education that I seek to direct your attention more especially to the country district schools, vocational and agricultural training and university extension.

These meetings will be conducted by pastors of several of the north side churches, the churches participating, being the Caledonia Methodist Episcopal Rev. M. E. Frazer, pastor; the Tabernacle Baptist, Rev. H. B. Leonard, pastor; the North Presbyterian church, Rev. Finch A. Clark, pastor; the Second German Methodist Episcopal church, J. W. Wetter, pastor; and the Scandinavian Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. A. Hermansen, pastor.

It is probable that other churches will accept the invitation to unite in these services in the near future. The services will be held every evening with the exception of Saturday evening, and the usual Sunday morning services will be held in the several churches as heretofore.

In connection with these services Union Young People's services will be held Sunday evenings at 6:45. The names of the ministers who will speak, will be announced later. It is the determination of the pastors and officers of the churches participating to do everything within their power to make these services practical, helpful and inspiring.

AUTO-ICE BOAT INVENTED HERE

Ice Craft Driven at Speed of Twenty-five Miles per Hour by Air Propeller

Residents of the north side, adjacent to Black river, were startled yesterday afternoon by a peculiar whirling noise, on the river. Upon investigation, they discovered an odd contrivance moving up and down the river on the ice, driven by an aeroplane propeller.

Robert Henry, employee of the National Gauge and Register company, some time ago, in investigating the construction of flying machines, conceived the idea of converting his ice boat that had been formerly propelled by sails, into an aerial iceboat. On the boat which consisted of a wooden frame, on runners, he placed an automobile engine, and a six foot propeller, which he says drives the boat at a speed of 25 miles an hour.

He is survived by a widow, an aged mother, five brothers, William Matzdorf, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Aaron Matzdorf, Roseland, Ill.; Frank Matzdorf, Las Vegas, Nev.; Frederick Matzdorf, Cadillac, Mich.; Albert Matzdorf, Lima, Cal.; one sister, Mrs. J. Mormon, Denver, Col.

THORPE BARRED PENDING PROBE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Investigation of the case of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, all round Olympic champion, whose amateur status is questioned, will be continued by the Amateur Athletic union, it was learned Saturday night.

Thorpe cancelled a date to appear in the Fordham university games here Saturday night and James E. Sullivan, secretary of the A. A. U., said that if the Indian appears to participate in the Pastime Athletic club games here next Tuesday night, in which he is entered in two or three events, he will be protested.

Although it has been declared with definiteness by those best in a position to know that the Carlisle athlete has never been a member of the Carolina association, thereby having become a professional as charged recently, the identity of a player named Thorpe, who was a member of the Rocky Mount team of the Eastern Carolina league in 1909 and 1910 is under investigation, as is that of Thorpe who played with the Fayetteville team of the same league in 1910.

PACKED IN ICE FIGHTS FOR LIFE

WILLISTON, N. D., Jan. 27.—With arms and legs frozen stiff and with only a faint spark of life left, Knut Bakked, 28, was found lying in a straw stack near this city. Brought to town, he was packed in ice to prevent too rapid thawing and is now in a hospital with a fighting chance for life. Bakked had attempted to walk here from Mondak, Montana.

EDUCATION BOARD MEASURE READY

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—A proposal for the creation of a state board of education, broached at previous sessions of the legislature, is expected to come before the 1913 assembly this week in the form of a resolution for a constitutional amendment permitting the change.

Its author will be Judge O. D. Roge, the Beloit assemblyman. The board is designed to unite the functions of the state normal board, the board of university regents, the state superintendent and his staff of inspectors and other officials now directing state educational affairs. The object is uniformity and a consequent gain in efficiency.

The two groups are the Wisconsin Woman's Suffrage association and the political Equality league of Wisconsin.

The purpose of the joint convention is to determine the sentiment of a majority of the men and women interested in votes for women in regard to the introduction of a bill in the legislature providing for a re-submission of the question of equal suffrage to the voters of the state.

MONTHLY BUSINESS OF THE RAILROADS

BUSINESS FOR NOVEMBER
The high tide of business in the United States continues to be reflected in the railway statistics compiled by the bureau of railway economics from the reports of the railways to the interstate commerce commission.

The returns for last November show an increase over November of the previous year, but do not maintain the ratio of increase displayed by the month of October; while operating revenues increased $122 per mile of line for the month, operating expenses increased $74, and net revenue only $48.33. Taxes were greater than for the previous November, amounting to $46 per mile of line. Operating income averaged $12.13 per mile of line for each day in November, an amount greater by $1.63 than for November, 1911. This is the entire amount available to the railways for rentals, interest on bonds, appropriations and dividends.

For the five months of the fiscal year the net operating revenue per mile of line of the eastern railways, compared with the corresponding months of the previous year, increased 9.3 per cent; that of the western railways increased 15.8 per cent, while that of the railways of the south increased less than one-tenth of 1 per cent.

For the eleven months of the calendar year the net operating revenue per mile of line of the eastern railways, compared with the corresponding months of the previous year, increased 4.8 per cent; that of the western railways 7.4 per cent, while that of the railways of the south shows a decrease of 4.5 per cent.

STUDENTS ASSIGNED TO HELP LIBRARIES

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—Thirty-five library students, fresh from technical instruction in the Wisconsin library school, will spend February and March in duties involved in librarianship in various libraries of the state. In past years it has been found the services of these students during the two months are of substantial value to the libraries of the state, and it is estimated by Secretary M. S. Dudgeon of the Wisconsin free library commission that the technical work thus to be performed this winter will have a monetary value of $5,000.

Among the assignments are the following: Mrs. Jessie Luther, Juda, who will be at Sparta; Miss Nora Beust, La Crosse, at Stevens Point; Anna I. Rowe, Metropolis, Ill., at Arcadia; Frances C. Sawyer, Omaha, Neb., at Mondovi, Whitehall and Neillville.

STRIKE CLOSES TOWN

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Rankin saloons were today ordered closed by the sheriff, firearms are not to be sold, and a search of the houses of foreigners has removed guns and knives from the possession of many of the 2,500 striking American Steel and Wire workers who engaged in a bloody riot with the police late Saturday night. Pickets voiced threats when strikebreakers appeared on re-summation of work this morning but attempted no violence.

BERGER DEMANDS PROBE OF STRIKE

Wisconsin Socialist Asks
House for Investigation
of Garment Workers' Trouble

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Probe of the economic conditions that had caused the New York garment workers' strike was demanded of the house in a resolution introduced today by Representative Victor L. Berger, the Wisconsin socialist. The appointment of a special committee of seven members to ascertain whether the public health is not endangered by reported unsanitary workshops where clothes later shipped in interstate commerce are made, was requested.

The resolution was based on a mass of evidence including affidavits from the strikers, which Berger has collected. It was referred to the rules committee, which will probably grant Berger a hearing at an early date, to submit his evidence showing the necessity for such an investigation.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Dispute over the garment workers demands led to the shooting of Corez Mass, 35, a foreman for Lamm & Co., clothiers, by Paulino Anselino, an employee today. Mass was shot in the groin and is in a critical condition. Anselino was arrested. The proposed strike of garment workers still hung fire today.

Avoid Soothing Syrups

Cure Your Cough by Nature's Method
The danger in using soothing syrups and patent medicines for coughs and colds lies in the fact that they so often contain drugs and opiates. These deaden the functions instead of supplying the healing ingredients that assist Nature to throw off the germs that cause the trouble.

To secure immediate relief and to break up the most severe cold inside a single day, shake together in a bottle a couple of ounces of glycerine, eight ounces of whiskey and half a ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine, and take a teaspoonful every four hours. This is a natural remedy and entirely harmless.

Any druggist can supply you with genuine Virgin Oil of Pine, which comes only in sealed half ounce vials in wooden cartons bearing the label of The Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.—Advertisement.

COLD CAUSES MISERY

CHILL WEATHER BRINGS SUFFERING TO MANY REFUGEES OF OHIO RIVER FLOOD DISTRICTS

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 27.—Cold and a biting wind, succeeding the mild weather, caused suffering in the flooded Ohio river valley today. Relief parties have definitely learned that the suffering, despite official denials has not been exaggerated, and that Ashbyburg, Uniontown and Green River districts were scenes of frightful distress.

Captain William Elliott, for the war department, left here today for the Kentucky bottoms, authorized to extend aid from the regular armies contingent fund.

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 27.—The Ohio river here stood at 48.9 feet today. A slight fall is expected before night. The water has flooded the country on the Missouri side to such an extent that the Cotton Belt railroad on the Bird's Point branch has suspended business.

DR. DICKINSON TO LECTURE ON DRAMA

The Drama League has decided to have Dr. Herbert T. Dickinson give his lecture on "The Technique of the Drama" tonight instead of on "The New Literary Drama" as formerly announced. The lecture on "The Technique of the Drama" deals more directly with the drama and its influence as it exists today. No doubt a greater number will be interested in hearing this phase of the subject discussed, especially at this time.

C. R. HEIKE MUST SERVE

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS SENTENCE IMPOSED ON SECRETARY OF SUGAR REFINING COMPANY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Conviction of Charles R. Heike, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company for alleged complicity in the "sugar-weighting frauds," against the government in 1907, was affirmed today by the supreme court. He was sentenced to 18 months in prison and $5,000 fine.

A strict interpretation of the immunity statute covering testimony of the government "trust busting" and interstate commerce cases was made in the court's decree.

The obvious purpose of the immunity statute, said Justice Holmes in reading the court's opinion, "is to make evidence compulsory that otherwise could not be got. It is not intended as an indictment to crime. The evidence in the former case (the sugar trust investigation) had nothing to do with the defendant's action in this case. When the statute speaks concerning a matter it means a substantial matter."

REWEY IS OUT FOR PLACE ON BOARD

C. W. Rewey, 1333 Charles street, today announced his candidacy for election to the board of public works at the coming municipal election. He has been in the employ of the city for the last ten years holding various positions as stationary engineer. During the last few years he has worked at the pump station and previous to that had charge of the engine room on the wagon bridge. Mr. Rewey will probably receive the support of North La Crosse as several of the prospective candidates are south side men.

TORRANCE WILL NOT BECOME CANDIDATE

William Torrance, alderman and former mayor of La Crosse, today denied a story to the effect that he will be a majority candidate at the coming city election.

A financial stringency will be experienced during the next administration because of the over taxing of the city resources during the last year, is the prediction made by Mr. Torrance and this was followed by his declaration that he would not become a candidate under any circumstances.

CLERKS GIVE DANCE

The sixth annual ball of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks will be held at Linker's hall Wednesday. Andre's orchestra will play.

SMUGGLE BY THE MAIL

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF DIAMONDS SEIZED BY CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT IN PARCEL POST

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Diamonds worth $18,000 consigned to local dealers here were held up by the customs department at the federal building today on suspicion that they were smuggled into the country through international parcel post by Nathan Groen, now under arrest in New York. Authorities are maintaining the utmost secrecy over the case, but admit that an extensive investigation into the traffic, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of gems, is being made.

It is said that the local dealers are perhaps innocent purchasers, but the diamonds will be confiscated if it is found that the duty has not been paid. New York and Chicago are the only two cities now being investigated, it is said, but other cities are likely to be involved.

FARMERS' COURSE OPEN

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—The two weeks' program of rural betterment meetings and courses at the university will open tomorrow. The farmers' two weeks' course in agriculture, the young people's course in agriculture, the women's course in home economics, the creamery and cheese factory operatives' special course and the convention of the Wisconsin county superintendents' association will all open tomorrow.

Watches as Gifts

For the birthday, a watch is an ideal gift. The business man and woman, the college student, even the school boy or girl needs a watch. How often you hear one say: "I'm proud of that watch. My mother gave it to me years ago."

And then, punctuality is one of the eminently desirable virtues, and a good watch helps to cultivate punctuality.

We'd like very much to show you ours. The stock is splendid, of wide variety and there's nothing doubtful in what we recommend.

ARMY TO AVENGE DEATH OF SCOUT

War Department Makes Plans to Wipe Out Head-hunting Jolo Tribe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—To avenge the killing of Captain Patrick McNally and enlisted men of the Philippine scouts, officials of the war department today began plans to wipe out the last of the notorious head hunters of the island of Jolo. Brigadier General John J. Pershing, commanding the Mindanao department, will be in command of the expedition.

Confirmation of the press dispatches received at the war department today from General Bell said that Lieutenant William Townsend and Lieutenant Cockrum with eight enlisted men were dangerously wounded.

More than 150 Americans have fallen victims to the wild head hunting Moros and Chinese pirates of Jolo.

Several companies of field artillery will be taken to the islands to drive the Moros out of their defenses. It is expected that the Philippine scout schooners will finish the job.

ALLEGED MASHER CAN'T BE FOUND

An indefinite adjournment was taken in the case brought against Clark Harris for violations of the anti-mashing ordinance this morning, when it was learned that the defendant has vanished. Harris, who is a negro, was arrested two weeks ago for addressing endearing terms to Miss Margaret Gundolf, but was released on bond to appear for trial two days later.

When the trial was called, Attorney Albert Wolf, who was acting for the defendant, was out of the city, the case was adjourned and Harris given his freedom without further bond. The case was called four times but always adjourned because of the absence of one of the attorneys. This morning both attorneys were ready for the trial but Harris failed to appear.

PEERS TURN OUT TO DEFEAT BILL

Aged Aristocrats Seldom Seen in Parliament Present to Vote Down Home Rule

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Irish home rule bill came up for second reading and debate in the house of lords this afternoon. The measure was passed in the commons ten days ago with the overwhelming majority of 106 for the government.

That the lords would reject the bill was certain, but it will be an important rejection. Under the veto act, Premier Asquith will merely have to get his present bill through the commons three times, and it will automatically become a law, regardless of the lords' rejection.

Determined to smash the bill by the highest possible majority, the marquis of Lansdowne summoned his followers from the uttermost ends of the earth. Age and infirmities made no difference, and the crowds of spectators had repeated opportunities to cheer or jeer, according to whether their sympathies were conservative or liberal as decreed old aristocrats were helped from their automobiles and carriages.

The Earl of Wemyss, a nonagenarian, and the Earl of Halsbury, aggressive conservative and ex-chancellor, who is over 80, came in for ovations. The arrogant old Marquis of Clanricarde, worst hated of all Irish landlords, was early on the scene despite his 80 years.

Irish leaders in the commons, fashionably dressed society women, and members of the diplomatic corps, were present when the Marquis of Creale, liberal leader, arose to move the second reading of "government of Ireland act" as the Asquith bill is officially catalogued.

USES RECORD TO KEEP FROM JAIL

General Sickles Sends War Exploits to Sheriff to Dodge Service of Warrant

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—In an effort to overshadow his present difficulties with his war record, General Daniel E. Sickles today sent the following letter to Sheriff Harburger, as the county officer was preparing to execute the order for the arrest of the aged veteran for the conversion of the state monument committee funds:

"Dear Friend Harburger: Perhaps it will interest you to read the enclosed pamphlet, in which you will see from Lieut. Gen. James Longstreet that I won the great and decisive battle of Gettysburg and that Lieut. General Sheridan agrees with Longstreet."

A few moments after the sheriff had received this communication Attorney Daniel P. Hayes, counsel for the general, called at the sheriff's office to discuss the matter of bonds. The sheriff agreed if satisfactory bond was furnished he would not remove the general from his home on Fifth avenue but would serve the notice of arrest and let the bond go in to immediate effect. If the bond is not produced, the sheriff said he would be forced to take him to the Ludlow street jail, where he has arranged comfortable quarters for the aged civil war veteran.

In either case, Sickles' only chance to evade service of the order for arrest issued Saturday in Albany rested with the decision of Mrs. Sickles. The general's wife has delivered an ultimatum—a promise to come to her husband's aid for the full amount of shortage, $23,000, on the condition that Miss Willmerding, who has been the general's housekeeper for fourteen years, leaves the house.

FABULOUS PILE OF LOOT FAIRY TALE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The $250,000 of loot which the police said they had found in the shop of an alleged fence on West 42nd street, several weeks ago, turned out today to have dwindled to something less than $1,000 worth of miscellaneous junk and the case against the shopkeeper has completely flattened out. No explanation was given by Deputy Commissioner Dougherty as to why he called the newspapermen into his office January 7 and told them an elaborate story of this most important capture. The graft investigations were at their height and great publicity given this round-up of thieves and the "quarter million in loot" had a soothing effect at headquarters.

WILSON STRONG FOR DEMOCRACY

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 27.—Governor Wilson said today that he wanted no reception to be held in Washington on the day of his inauguration unless it is "held on a democratic basis."

The president-elect was asked as to the suggestion which emanates from Washington, that a reception be held at the White house on the evening of March 4, instead of at the capitol.

"There will be 100,000 visitors in Washington that day," he said, "and it would be impossible to have the reception, except it is held on a democratic basis."

METHODIST CHURCH MEETINGS IMPROVE

The special evangelistic meeting now in progress at the First Methodist Episcopal church continues to grow in each service. Yesterday was a high day in Zion. In the morning Mr. Barker preached on the doctrine of consecration, in the Sunday school he spoke to the young people. In the evening a large congregation assembled in the auditorium, when the evangelist preached from the words, "Today if you will hear his voice harden not your heart." A deep impression pervaded the entire audience. On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Barker will take up the afternoon meetings at 3 o'clock, speaking on the Holy Spirit. Meetings every evening this week at 7:45, preceded by a song service led by Prof. Kerr with special music.

APPLETON ELKS OPEN NEW HOME

Karel of Milwaukee, will make the principal address. The club house is one of the finest in the state. It cost $45,000. An opening ball will be held Tuesday night.

$3 TO MAKE SUIT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—That the average woolen twelve to eighteen dollar suit of clothes actually costs the factory $3 and is sold wholesale for from $8 to $10, was admitted to the ways and means committee today. Joseph D. Holmes, a New York woolen merchant, presented the figures in asking for a retention of high wool duties.

TRAIN KILLS THREE

MINOT, N. D., Jan. 27.—Three people were killed and eight injured, three probably mortally, when a Soo-Spokane flyer struck a wagon near Martin. The dead: Jacob Heim, 50, farmer; Willie Heim, 5; Albert Heim, 3. Three other children of Mr. Heim, who was a wealthy farmer near Martin, are in a critical condition in An-moose hospital.

BADGERS CAPTURE
BIG NINE TITLE

Maroon Quintette Loses
First Game of Season
to Wisconsin
Team

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—Before a crowd of 3,500 half crazed rooters who filled the gym to the rafters, the Badger basketball five swamped the Maroon quintette five by a score of 31 to 18 Saturday night. Fast team work and clever blocking on the part of the Wisconsin team served to hold down the much touted Maroon quintette and leave Wisconsin supreme in the 100 per cent class.

Johnson and Van Gent starred for Wisconsin, registering 23 points between them, while Louie Berger's work at right forward made him look like a fixture on the cardinal five. Van Gent, although overtopped by several inches by Des Jardins, succeeded in getting the jump on his lanky opponent every time.

Van Riper broke his last year's record for basket throwing by registering his second field goal for the year in the second half of the game.

Coach Page shifted Des Jardins to right forward, using Vruwink in his place at center at the beginning of the second period. The score at the end of the first half was: Wisconsin, 15; Chicago, 7. Lineup: Wisconsin—Johnson, lf; Berger, rf; Van Gent, c; Harper, rg; Van Riper (capt.), lg.

Chicago—Norgren, lf; Vruwink, Stephenson, rf; Des Jardins, c; Bell (capt.), rg; Molander, Baumgartner, lg.

Field goals—VanGhent, 4; Johnson, 6; Berger, 2; Harper, 4; Van Riper, 1; Vruwink, 4; Des Jardins, 1; Molander, 1; Norgren, 1. Free throws—Johnson, 3; Molander, 4. Officials—Davies of Milwaukee, umpire; Biddle of Wabash and Greeley of Milwaukee, referees. Time of halves—20 minutes.

M'CARTY MAY MEET
NEGRO CHAMPION

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 27.—Luther McCarty, new white heavyweight champion, will meet Jack Johnson for the world's title now held by the negro, if the match is wished by the public.

This statement was made by McCarty when asked if he was willing to meet Jack Johnson, or if he believed the negro fighter out of the ring.

"Wherever I go I am asked that question. Every crowd before which I appear clamors for a speech and wishes to know if I will meet Johnson. I do not care to meet him. I think he should be barred from the ring, but he has not been defeated by a white fighter and the American public wants to have him defeated.

"Therefore, it seems to be up to me. If the clamor grows I will fight him. However, I expect the bout will be fought in Europe, as I do not think it will be allowed in this country."

The New Dictionary a Treasury of Literary Knowledge—A Help
at Every Turn

Recently the centenary of Charles Dickens, the great English novelist, was celebrated in various ways. Stamps were sold for the benefit of his children's children, and the children born of his wonderful imagination and knowledge of human nature are being discussed more than ever before.

In this instance The Tribune's Dictionary will be found a timely aid. If you hear or read of a Pecksniff or a Pickwick, and do not understand the reference, look the name up in the treasury of facts at the back of the New Modern English Illustrated Dictionary and you will be enlightened by the clear and concise statement found there.

The Tribune is passing out hundreds of volumes of this valuable work from the Dictionary Department in exchange for six consecutive coupons and a small expense bonus. You can choose your binding from all silk cloth to the fine lamp leather book that looks like a Bible.

If you have this latest dictionary at your elbow, where it belongs, you can readily understand the references in your daily reading which have puzzled you heretofore. You will find that either in the dictionary proper or in the treasury of facts your want will be supplied. The Tribune offers you a dictionary in one common sense sized volume, which will save your everyday needs. Characters from Shakespeare and all the best known people of fiction are crowded into this Blue Book of the Book World.

Do you ever knot your brow over a legal phrase or the meaning of one or two Latin words used in connection? Stop it. Frowns will wrinkle the fairest forehead.

Don't procrastinate. Get that dictionary and stop puzzling. Six clippings and a small bonus get it.
